Dear Peric:

My years of public service encompass a wide variety of experiences but military service, City Hall and the United States Senate all have shown me the need for thoughtful and thorough preparation for emergencies. I would like to commend you and Sector 10 for your innovative approach to public protection and emergency response.

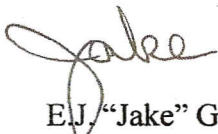

The Sector 10 concept of pre-deploying vital life saving resources in high traffic areas of public facilities and of funding the pre-deployment by using the communications systems on your Stationary Response Units to display advertising shows that you are changing the way in which we think of being ready for emergencies. You truly are, as you say, Rethinking Response.

I don't take lightly committing my name and time. I am happy, however, to be associated with you and Sector 10 because I believe what you are doing will have a significant and lasting impact on improving public safety and in preserving individual lives.

I look forward to seeing Sector 10 equipment pre-deployed throughout Utah and the nation. I am certain, when this is done, people will be safer in and better prepared for emergencies of every kind.

Best of luck.

Sincerely,

E.J. "Jake" Garn
United States Senate, Retired
